DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. In response to the office action from 5/11/2009, the applicant has submitted an amendment after final, filed 8/7/2009 amending independent claims 73 and 82-83 to incorporate the allowable subject matter previously indicated with respect to previous claim 93 (Office Action from 5/11/2009) (Amendment, Page 11). As these claims now incorporate the claim containing allowable subject matter and all intervening claims, claims 73-79, 81-89, 91-92, and 94 are allowable over the prior art of record for the reasons set forth below.
2. In response to amended claim 77 (Amendment, Page 11), the examiner has withdrawn the previous objection directed to minor informalities.
3. In response to the cancellation of claim 80 (Amendment, Page 11), the examiner has withdrawn the previous objection directed towards minor informalities. Also, this subject matter has been incorporated into claim 73 with the informalities corrected, thus precluding any type of related objection of this claim.
4. In response to amended claim 82, which eliminates the claim language not described in the originally filed specification (i.e., “computer program product”) and incorporates “computer readable memory medium” which is supported by the specification (for example, Page 39), the examiner has withdrawn the previous 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph rejection.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 73-79, 81-89, 91-92, and 94 are allowable over the prior art of record.
6. The following is an examiner’s statement of reasons for allowance:

With respect to independent claims 73, 82, and 83, the prior art of record fails to explicitly teach or fairly suggest, either individually or taken in combination, a respective shiritori word chain game system, computer readable memory medium, or method utilizing a speech recognizer and featuring a means for allowing a system to generate a spoken word or phrase output that continues the game in response to determining that a user has spoken an utterance which breaks a shiritori game rule (i.e., the first letter(s) of the user's spoken word do not match the last letter(s) of the computer's previous voice output), wherein the word for continuing a word chain game after a user has uttered a rule-breaking utterance is selected based on an impression of a user determined based on a previous step in the interactive game dialog. The examiner notes that although Patinkin et al (WO 01/91466 A2) does teach continuing a game after a user enters a rule breaking input (Page 31, Lines 20-28; and Figs. 4A and 4C) and Miyasato (JP2001-190930) teaches the selection of user difficulty levels (Page 18), none of the prior art of record, either individually or taken in combination, teaches that a computer shiritori game system selects the continuing word after a user's rule-breaking input based on a impression of a user determined based on a previous game dialog step. Thus, claims 73, 82, and 83 are allowable over the prior art of record. Dependent claims 74-79, 81, 84-89, 91-92, and 94 further limit allowable independent claims, and thus, are also allowable over the prior art of record by virtue of their dependency.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
